HOW TO CALL TIMES-DISPATCH

Persons wishing to communicate with The Times-Dispatch by telephone will ask central for "401," and on being answered from the office switchboard will indicate the department or person with whom they wish to speak.
When calling between 6 A. M. and 9 A. M. call to central office direct for 401, composing room; 402, business office; 403, for mailing and press rooms.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1907.

O Money! Money! how blindly thou hast been worshipped, and how stupidly abused.—Charles Lamb.

Report of the Library Board.

As was expected, there was a division of opinion in the Library Board on the proper action to be taken in respect to Mr. John P. Kennedy, librarian. The majority have agreed to sustain and retain Mr. Kennedy, for reasons which they have set out at length. The minority have taken a different view, for reasons which they, too, have stated in detail. The Times-Dispatch sees no reason to change the opinion which it expressed after the hearing before the legislative committee, that the usefulness of Mr. Kennedy is so impaired that he should vacate the office; and we still trust that this will be the course which will commend itself to him, as it would to every man of proper delicacy.

Mr. Kennedy has received from the majority the vindication which he desired, and which he is reported to have said was all that he desired, and it is now open to him to retire with that credit which the majority have attributed to him.

The action of the majority certainly does not express the popular feeling, but when gentlemen of such unimpeachable integrity as theirs devote time and labor to the service of the State with no other reward than that which comes from the consciousness of duty faithfully done, there is no propriety whatever in criticizing their action, which is the result of honest judgment after patient investigation.

Cost of Government.

According to statistics which have been going the rounds of the press, the cost of municipal government in New York is $21 per capita. This is far ahead of the cost in other cities named. In Philadelphia it is $13 per head; in Buffalo, $12; in Washington, Bridgeport, Schenectady, and cities of that sort, $11 per capita pays the tax; in Houston the charge is under $10; in lively Los Angeles, $7.50; Scranton and Seattle each collect $5.50, and Nashville, Tenn., is at the bottom of the list of progressive cities, with a taxation of about $6 per capita, less than one-fifth of New York's rate.

The average city tax throughout the country is estimated to be from $10 to $11 per capita, or almost exactly the amount by which New York has raised its per capita figure in only nine years.

These figures are so indefinite that they are valueless for purposes of comparison. We do not know what is included and what excluded in the cost. The Richmond budget for 1907 aggregates $2,375,680.66, which would indicate a per capita cost of government of something like $23. But included in the aggregate is an appropriation of nearly $500,000 for interest and redemption. Also is included some $200,000 for the Gas Works, an institution which not only pays its expenses, but produces a net revenue; and $127,000 for the Water Works, also a revenue producer, much of which is for construction; also included $160,000 for new buildings, monuments and so on. Deducting these and other amounts for extraordinary objects, the cost of government in Richmond would appear to be about $12 or $13 per capita. In this we include the cost of operating the machinery of government; public schools, costing nearly $200,000; public charities, charitable institutions partly supported by the city; James River improvement, and kindred subjects. Taking all these into account, Richmond will probably compare favorably with other cities of her class.

Peace and War.

The International Peace Congress will open its session in New York on the 11th instant, to be followed by The Hague Peace Conference in June.

There was a time when the advocates of universal peace and peaceable arbitration of international disputes were regarded as kind-hearted visionaries, to be patted on the back and coaxed, but there is to-day no institution in the world which is more dignified, which commands more respect, and few more influential than The Hague Conference. It is a sign of progressive civilization that nations are more and more disposed to adjust their differences in court rather than upon the field of battle, and it indicates also the spread and increased potentiality of that religion which was founded by the Prince of Peace. If Christianity held complete sway over all the world, war would be impossible. If the principles of Christianity were the rules of conduct for all men and women, there would be no strife and no occasion for it.

But that, unhappily, is not the case. There are bad men in every land; there are abuses which need to be reformed, and so long as that is the case there must be strife and struggles and fightings. This is righteous warfare, and it must be waged for righteousness' sake so long as there is need of it.

We are having such a struggle in the United States. We are warring against bad men, bad measures and evil conditions, and the fight must go on and on until the forces of righteousness shall triumph, for triumph they must and triumph they will. War hath her victories no loss renowned than peace.

The Inspection System.

The estimate of a correspondent of The Times-Dispatch that an honest and industrious traveling auditor would save the State several hundred thousand dollars a year the Norfolk Landmark thinks is not unreasonable. "Nobody can now tell," says the Landmark, "just how much the State loses from dishonest methods in handling its finances, but the amount is pretty large, in all human probability. The loss, whatever it is, is doubtless just as great from careless and dilatory methods as from downright peculation."

"Honest State officers should have no objection to examination of their accounts at any time. The traveling auditor system is a stimulus to the best of officers, and a safeguard from their own point of view. If a mistake has been made unintentionally, it is to the interest of the local officer to know it, while the imminence of inspection helps him maintain the efficiency of his State keep check on the honesty of his subordinates. Glasses made a hard fight for a traveling auditor system when he was in the State Senate, and later when he was in the Constitutional Convention, but the majority of his colleagues unyieldingly opposed the innovation. Why should the State keep check on its treasurers as the national government does on its paymasters in the army and navy?"

Messrs. Byrd, of Winchester, and Johnston, of Montgomery, tried to get an inspection bill through the Legislature at its last session, and will renew the fight next time if either returns. Mr. Massie, who is offering for the House from Richmond, has already committed himself to a measure providing for a uniform system of book-keeping and inspection, and Mr. Massie is indefatigable when he once starts. The prospects are most encouraging.

"Yes, the President and I talked about the presidential nomination," said Senator Scott, in a recent interview. "The President said that there were any amount of men who would make good Presidents."

Sly speech! What can "any amount of men" mean but the extensive person of Secretary Taft?

An Indian woman, reading her obituary notice in the newspaper, promptly died, declining to believe that she was alive since the paper said that she was dead. Few such tributes to the veracity of the press have ever been paid.

Representative Dalzell, while personally seeing no reason for revising the tariff, yet admits that "there is a sentiment in some parts of the country favoring a revision of the schedule, which is very, very civil of the Congressmen."

Harriman's stenographer was a man. This is mentioned merely with the idea of suggesting, very tentatively, that the stenographer be a woman the little story might have come out a year or two earlier.

Statesmen occasionally stoop to mere politics for the sake of carrying popularity. Now, here is Secretary Taft's statement, ruling that a man's mother-in-law is not a part of his immediate family.

"A poker don't," cries the Ohio State Journal, "will neutralize a school-house of ten rooms." And about what in our contemporary's opinion, would it take to neutralize a flat of four rooms and graphophone?

The Dalai Lama has, at last, been found by Dr. Tafel in a Tibetan monastery near Gombum. There is good cheer in the news yet for him who determinedly seeks it.

King Edward has just received an appointment as honorary captain-general in the Spanish army. This is a high honor, however, no royal prerogative to giggle at Uncle Sam in Cuba.

Mr. Roosevelt might accept a third term, since they insist upon it, and a nobody is looking, quietly, at it on to his good friend G. B. Cortelyou.

A New York physician warns the public to leave prunes alone, apparently not realizing that it is nearly always the prunes that fall.

As for that $50,000 contribution from Mr. Harriman, you yourself were doubtless made a party to it at the ticket window.

The clamor for another four years of Roosevelt broke out anew as soon as ex-Senator Burton began lambasting him.

The czar, having fled notice of his intention to resign, has revealed himself as genuine Panama canal thug.

Senator Penrose naturally objects to Mr. Roosevelt's constituting himself the entire membership committee of the Annals Society.

Whatever the thermometer may prefer to do, Mr. Delmas, for his part, is getting sunburned.

Mr. Harriman no longer demands to know where he stands, possibly suspecting that he is now on the run.

If the weather man knows anything, especially springy about days like these, he will kindly advise.

All those present seem agreed that Delmas orated some.

Rhymes for To-Day.

Teddy Friends.

"The President and I are the best of friends,"—Senator Scott, of West Virginia.

D OUBTLESS (the above is true, straight, and nothing on the line).
Who am I to christen you,
Mister Scott, an Annulet?
I am but a hapless bard,
Just an innocent by-stander—
Yet I'll warn you, good and hard:
Don't reveal yourself a gander.

You and Teddy now are friends?
Don't you that fact, sir, borrow:
Teddy friendship swiftly ends—
Will you be such chums to-morrow?

S'posing you repeat some chat,
Which might spoil a plan he's cherished—
Mister, where would you be at?
Where is friendship when it's perished?

S'pose you stepped a shade too high,
With that pride which galls and vexes—
He would brush you like a fly
To the limbo of the E's.

S'posing half a dozen things,
Which a chap can think, discreetly:
You who trust to friendship's wings—
He'd abolish you completely.

Roosevelt friendship swiftly ends—
Don't you count on special lenience;
You are merely Teddy friends—
Viz—a friendship of convenience.

Work at Jamestown.

The minutes being read and adopted, and the report of the corresponding secretary and the treasurer heard, Mrs. John B. Lightfoot, chairman of the Jamestown committee, submitted the following:

"Work at Jamestown is being pushed as rapidly as possible.
